SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1862.

In a late number of the Richmond Examiner, long known as one of the bitterest and most violent of all the organs of the rebel Confederacy, we find an article exceedingly different in tone from anything else that we have met with for many months in any rebel newspaper. The general subject of the article in question is the vast exhibition of military power made by the North and the South in the present war. It says:

The greatness of America is a recent revelation to Europe. With the North and South confederated under the old government the United States possessed a military power and an abundance of resources of which her citizens, even in the excesses of her self-complacency, never dreamed. The war has revealed to the world an enormous power that overshadows whatever there is of military display in modern history, and has amazed the most arrogant nations of Europe. * * Had the North and South remained as one nation there could scarcely have been any limit to the achievements of their military power. * * England proposes to effect the continuation of this war, as far as possible, to the mutual ruin of the two nations engaged. That the Union nevershall be restored is a foregone and settled conclusion with the British government. Behind her mask of conscience and prind her mask of conscience and precision, there lurks a hideous and

We believe that the important subject, upor which the Richmond Examiner speaks in the passage we have cited above, is extensively and earnestly discussed among intelligent mer throughout the South, and that the discussion will lead to good. A powerful conservative party has manifested itself in the North, and we anticipate, that, as the natural response to it, a conservative party will spring up in the South, not perhaps very powerful at first but rapidly becoming more so until it shall be able to mould the policy of its section. This war must be waged with dreadful energy until the restoration of the Union is secured, but the great conservative party of the loyal States and a correspondingly conservative party in the South could accomplish the glorious work in

From this all can see how hopeless is ery and will not have to wait long.

The letter of a rebel widow to "Gen Umphrey Marshall," found in "Umphrey's" late Headquarters at Lexington, has been sent to us. The widow is exceedingly anxious to recover a lost album, containing photographs sorry we cannot aid her in recovering duced to send her ours if it will fully console her for her great misfortune.

The widow says that her photographs were not carry ours about in her apron. She must let it sweetly repose—she knows where.

What good does it do for the newspapers to keep up their angry discussions as to the removal of Gen. McClellan? If they can make no better use of their columns, they are not fit to have columns.

We are disgusted at seeing nomina tions for the Presidency. Let us make sure of having a country before we undertake to decide who shall be its Chief Magistrate. The radicals confess themselves terribly

The Republican papers very generally ert with considerable vehemence that the ancipation proclamation will be carried ut, but we don't believe it. We know nothng in the character or conduct of the Presi ent that could tend to make us believe it. He s no despot in disposition; it is his honest and his earnest desire, for his own persona ake as well as for the country's, to obey the will of the people; and he cannot possibly loubt that the people, in the late election have declared with tremendous emphasi gainst the radical and destructive polic which the proclamation contemplates.

We have little doubt that all the better por on of the Republican members of Congress ust as soon as they find themselves brough ace to face with the many insuperable diffi culties that an attempt to execute the procla nation would necessarily involve, will deermine to forego any attempt of the kind and advise the President, if indeed he shall need vested in stocks as a perpetual fund, the interhe advice, to drop the whole thing as not est of which shall be devoted to the endow nerely unwise but impracticable. Some of the Republican papers are advoates of the President's plan to export the i slaves freed under the proclamation to a trooical country, and others for planting them in ome portion of Texas, but certainly we have nough upon our hands whilst the war lasts vithout wasting our time and our military and pecuniary resources in colonizing either n a foreign country, or in a distant part of our own, myriads of freed negroes and providing them with the means of subsistence and defence in their new homes. We cannot plant a new nation whilst struggling for our own nationality. Any attempts to fix the slaves in a remote locality during the war would be the extreme of madness and folly; and yet it would be during the war, if the innumerable hordes of blacks should be liberated from their owners, that the great question what should be done with them would press itself upon us-press with an energy precluding all ossibility of delay. Even the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, an organ that supports the proclamation and expects it to be carried out, says of the slaves whose wholesale eman ipation is contemplated: "Clearly it will be aconvenient, if not impossible, to protect them where the war is actually going on, and as fast as they are captured from the enemy they must be sent to the rear and transported to a place of safety. To protect them where they are would require more than the million men now in arms, and leave us none for attach upon the rebel armies. The subject requires the carnest attention of the Government. Congress, which is soon to assemble, will be re quired to act upon it, and it will not be the simplest thing in the world to devise a system which shall be practical and economical, and Now, Mr. Gailor was himself Yankee born, had been in the Southwest but a few years, and never was a citizen of Kentucky; that he should then deprecate the invaders of our soil as accursed, appears to be an act of self-condemnation, for he, with his brother rebels from Tennessee, were among the "accursed invaders of our soil." We think the Knoxville Register has failed entirely in its effort to make a hero of such a pigmy as this Gailor.

The Roman youth, who rode into the yawning gulf to save his country, has at ength found his match in patriotic self-sacrifice. Gov. Letcher has issued a proclamation rebel organ, says that the rebels raised only about the distillation of alcohol; no grain is about 40,000 men by the last conscription, and to be used for that purpose, and nothing to drink is to be made out of it under heavy

P. S. Since we wrote the paragraph above we have looked further down in a letter from the Richmond correspondent of the Charleston Mercury, and find that the rebels "are rushing the rebel cause. It is but little more than fifteen years since Wisconsin was admitted into the Union and yet she has in many instances been led into extreme measures by her politicians. She has legislated against the spirit if not the letter of Congressional enactments, she has denied the finality of judgment issued by the Federal Supreme Court, and more recently she has iolently resisted the draft to fill the Union armies for the defence of the Government and to put down rebellion. This factious spirit is much to be regretted and we trust that in future wiser counsels will prevail. Prompt obedience to the laws is the first duty of loyalty.

PARSON BEECHER AND THE LIKE. To the Editors of the Louisville Journal

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 16, 1862. In true Indian fashion Parson Beecher con tinues to work up the beads in his brain Glass though these are, and brittle, showy, an taking only because they are painted, still the are popular because they are odd, striking and as cheap withal as pulpit utterings can well be in a church whose pews often vie in sal with choice boxes at the opera during the fu rore created by some Tenor or Prima Donna logical Barnum, as a clerical museum, (with a circus and theatre attached,) full of the fat babies, fortune-tellers, happy families, wonderful natural curiosities, including venemou eptiles and the "negro turning white," which in turn represent the conglomeration of nis teeming fancies, and which he pokes up with a long pole, and otherwise, in a stump style of manner, pleasantly Western, volubl graceful, beautiful; in mode (as far as utter nce, language, and illustration go) that ap hat looks like zeal and conviction. But all of this in brother Beecher is sensational, without being exactly deliberately wicked. Any bserver can perceive the sensual dramatic Beecher lurking behind the veil of his politi cal harangues. He is a fellow of cleverness ay, of some considerable genius, and very nuch talent, who loves to hear himself talk, to see himself printed, to put a comfortable mount of money in his purse that shall enaole him, at leisure, to cultivate literary tastes and to eat good dinners. The originality o Beecher is in the endless power he seems to have over illustrations. In this line some of his sentences will live; but mos ven of these are but exquisitely polished commonplaces. The real character of the man is the essential of sell ishness. He is vain, polite, kindly impulsiv full of what "Jo Surface" calls the "plate" sentiment-but (without exactly being ypocrite) his whole man is subservient to he Beecher policy. No human being acts les paders of our soil shall live to tell the tale from impulse, none acts more on a coollplanned system, than does this many-tongue divine; and the centre of his system is Henr

Ward Beecher. No! Brother Beecher is not a bigot, not a unatic, not an enthusiast even; nor is he what in the debased sense of the term men style a hypocrite. He has more true religion than many monks had in the good old days; but he hardly rises to the physically uncomfortable height of a Luther or a Wesley. He is "a sharp Yankee" this Mr. Beecher, who with the seeds early sown in his soul of true piety, nevertheless finds the pulpit a splendic heme for the most eccentric and unbridled flight of words; also good pay; also ample amunity from all degrees of prickling and and hazardous personal responsibility. Hence loubtless, there are times when from his heart he doles out Christian sentiment; but, beyone his, he is only the all-licensed actor. And yet this man, who after all is only fly on the wheel which revolves the great even of this day, has done quite as much mischie as if he had been an earnest apostle, or a re ponsible and powerful statesman, or the head of a threatening and overwhelming army. The highest dignity to which he has politically at tained is that of an Editor, in which professio e is only a parenthesis; as a warrior, his "bibles and buliets" belonged to his dramatic epertoire; and he is hardly a statesman who knows no better than to assert that but one laveholding State existed at the period of the formation of the American Union!* Educated where he could well observe the ensational power of atolition, Mr. Beecher ransferred it, in his early life, as his special ty, to the sensible State of Indiana, whose field not being wide enough for his operation in this regard, and whose men and women not being willing (as in Brooklyn and New York to tolerate mere amusement of this blue-fire why should they not, without being warned sort near inflamable property, like other stars who start in the Provinces, Mr. Beecher is appropriated by the Metropolitan boards, where he should remain as the stock celebrity in his line for Gotham and its suburbs; and to be visited by strangers as one of the elephants whose show-bills and learned tricks they have seen and read about. To give more than this importance to the political mountebankism of the Rev. Mr. Beecher, were to make his votaries quite as ridiculous as would have been a canvass for the Presidency of the United States seriously prosecuted by them in behalf of the late comedian Burton. And good men should blush to acknowledge how far they have been led away in the serious, nay solemn, matters of Schenck supersedes General Wool. THE THEATRE. - The friends of Mr. Carey. the worthy Treasurer of the Louisville Theatre, always give him substantial evidence of their attachment, when opportunity offers. His benefit last night amounted to nothing less than an ovation. The week will clos with big attractions, as we are promised the local drama of "Nick of the Woods," a full budget of fun from Messrs. Donaldson and Gilbert, a comic song from Mr. Stewart, and a peroration in the form of "Pongo, the Brazilian Ape," a piece rendered famous by Gabriel, of Ravel memory.

EAST TENNESSEE REGIMENTS .- The East Tennessee regiments, that fought and suffered the wonderful retreat, have been ordered to join Gen. Rosecrans, whose keen eyes are directed toward the eld home for which their hearts are yearning. The 3d and 6th are already at Nashville, the 5th, Col. Shelley, is now here on its way, the 4th is at Cincinnati and will soon be here, and the 1st and 2d are between Gallipolis and this city.

There will be another meeting of the Louisville Gymnasium Association at the Custom-house this evening at 71/2 o'clock. The members have decided to reorganze, and workmen are already engaged in putting the building is owned by the Association and it is worthy of Louisville. The members propose

Hon. Marshall P. Wilder, of Boston, whose pear orchard is unequalled in America, has not less than eight hundred varieties of pear trees, mostly of mature growth. The Editor of the Country Gentleman, who has lately visited this pear orchard, says: "The pear trees, which closely cover several acres. are of various ages, but a large majority are from twelve to twenty years old. A dwarf Glout Morceau, in bearing, is thirty-three years planted." Mr. Wilder, at the late meeting of the Pomological Society, in answer to an inquiry, gave the following list of the most profitable varieties of pears, viz: Bartlett, Anjou, Urbaniste, Morceau, Winkfield, and Lou-

A GREAT CROP. - Correspondents of the Department of Agriculture, conversant with the progress of sorghum culture in this country, and qualified to judge accurately of this season's product, estimate the aggregate quantity of cane syrup at 40,000,000 gallons, and the area cultivated at 250,000 acres. In 1859, by the showing of the last census, the product was less than 8,000,000 gallons. If this estimate should prove correct, it is sufficient to supply more than half of the syrup and measses demand of the United States.

THE SEARCH FOR THE ALABAMA. - The U.S. steamship, Dacotah, J. P. McKinstry commander, returned to New York from her cruise in search of the pirate Alabama. The Dacotah sailed on the 5th instant, and has since cruised between the east end of Long Island and Cape Hatteras, in the track of our treasure ships. She has spoken a large number of vessels, but found no trace of the Alabama. She has returned for a supply of coal, and will probably

A soldier in one of the hospitals, who had lost one of his arms, was rejoicing over the fact. Said he: "My grandfather lost a leg in the Revolutionary War, and our family have been bragging over it ever since. That story is an old one, and now I am going to be and the rushing up and down of soldiers. In the hero of the family."

An aged female, a native of Germany whose identity was not proven before the Coroner's jury, was run over by the car on the Louisville & Portland Railroad on Thursday evening, and died of her injuries on Thursday night. The accident was unavoidable.

They are now past the score of "neutrali feelings, be very blue in such company and ty, 'this "ain't their war," &c. They profess under such circumstances. War has its ways, if not its charms, and never before did time slip away so swiftly as now, surrounded as we are by all the moving panorama, the grand pomp and panoply of fabled Janus.

Of news, "as is news," I have not much to write. To tell you all about the moves of the Union army, as I gather from officers and officials here daily, would get us very quickly We are requested to ask the St. Louis into sad scrapes for giving information to the enemy. For it is known that your Journa gets out this way. Were I to attempt to tell you of the rebel moves hereabouts, as reported I might spin out a column of rumors of the ruthless conscription of Tennessee sovereign and indiscriminate driving off of live stock to the South, negroes inclusive.

The general opinion prevails here, among the recently arrived refugees, that the Confederates will not attempt to stand this side of the Tennessee River. I have conversed with farmers this day who ran from their homes, ten to twenty miles from here, within two days past, to escape the conscription. Also, I have seen negroes by the dozen who have just run in, all agreeing in the statement that the bold Southrons were driving off the negroes to the South, by wagon loads and in chainunder Gen. Morgan at Cumberland Gap and in gangs. Consequently the niggers are on the qui vive; the country is full of them, trying to get into Nashville. Some of them are chased by dogs-one black man was thus followed to within four miles of this city. where our pickets saluted the canine hunters with a sniff or two of cold lead. try ere the Union army advances upon them The Federal army has made material advances, within three days past, I learn-but in what manner it is needless to state. The public can be assured that all is well, and the hall on Broadway in complete repair. The march is onward. It may be that the rebels may steal enough to keep their armies up for their intention to make it a Gymnasium awhile, but, as winter moves on, the suffering and exposure they must endure will tell with to give a public Gymnastic entertainment as terrible effect upon them. We shall witness a gorous winter campaign no doubt. Ou army will purge the country as it goes-a least it should. Gen. Rosecrans is an earnest man-he apparently means to lay the axe to the very root of this rebellion. It is stated here that prominent rebels, wherever he marches, must either repent and reform, or they must go on to the South; that they will be required to take the oath of allegiance, and give heavy bonds for future good behavior, if ermitted to stay behind, in the possession and njoyment of their property, as insured to them by the power of the Union army and the majesty of Constitutional law.

It can be truly said of the rebellious people of Nashville, within a week past, how are the mighty fallen-how are the haughty cast down! Such a flutter has not been exhibited here, I am informed, since the advent of the great doctrine of "Southern Rights." Passing by the headquarters of Gen. Rosecrans, one would be sure to note the crowds of people upon the sidewalk, all in anxious expectancy. Each wanted "a pass," but passes were withheld. Previous looseness in this respect was now corrected. The haughtiest silken dames the lowliest laborer in shop or foundery, and the thickest lipped negro in all Nashville, here met upon the dead level of unfortundt equality. The abuse of the pass system was suddenly checked, I was told, by an imperative order from the Commander-in-Chief to grant no passes to civilians, whatever, for ordinary business purposes. Farewell to the wholesale smuggling out of flannels, indiarubber goods, and coats, even, under the wellspread hoops of these delicate rebels! No more quinine to go out in false bottomed trunks and valises, nor packages of liquor, etc., to travel in old corn sacks, and in chicken coop crevices. Nor could accommodating milkmen continue the business of perambu lating postoffices for rebel letters, nor broken backed old gardeners procure passes for cabbage-heads, os'ensibly, but really, to pass out some scion of Southern nobility, who had crept in for a clean shirt or to have his head Resident friends here assure me that Seces ia is in a rampage at this. They are as help ess as babes and as toothless as the gentlema who wriggled himself into the good graces o a notable mother in Eden. How galling i must be to these proud, haughty people. They are almost to be pitied, for their pride is in their wealth, their wealth is in their plantations, negroes, and public stocks-all of it is fast taking unto itself wings and flying away.

Yesterday was the Sabbath day-a day of onsiderable flutter and fashionable turnout in this gay town of yore. But on yesterday prayers were below par, judging from the attendance at church. Among military men there was no let up-the same bustle of officers the morning I noticed the grand entree and narch of the negro working brigade passing on to their labor upon the fortifications. Imagine the motley gang of a thousand or more egro men and boys of all sizes, shades of olor, and description of garment. On they tramped in regular platoon and military step. An officer preceded them, with a soldier cap astride his tawney sconce, and an old sword n hand. To see him swell and puff in importance, was a rich military caricature. Other 'officers" were strung along, some with words, others with bayonets, and some with wooden swords-to hear them give their orlers-"step," "step"-"dress up, dar," &c and to see the glee with which all enjoyed it, was an amusing scene indeed. The city is full of refugee and runaway negroes, and the fortifications are built entirely by them. As this country is swept over by our army, consuming all as it passes, the negroes will become a vast army of themselves, of dependent, suffering human beings, and the winter months and the weary days of a starving spring, may make fearful havoc among this unfortunate race. There was held a rather notable meeting it Nashville last week. The object of it was to gather in the refugees of Tennessee now congregated here to the number of one to two columns and oblige both myself and others.

JAS. P. HENDRICK. thousand men. Speeches were made by Gov. Andrew Johnson, Major-General Rosecrans, eager to hear the speeches, and was well repaid for the evening's attendance. Gov. Johnson's speech was vigorous, bold, defiant, and Union to the core. No ifs nor ands-the Union mus and should be maintained. His strong point was that this war was made by Southern leaders for power; that they desired a new pro-slavery pretence, will probably be the fina losers by their rebellion. I have conversed with several of the fresh refugees within two day now, to be ready to fight for the Union, and to secure to themselves and their children a pros perous future. The next meeting of these refugees will be for the purpose of procuring guns forming military organizations at home, &c &c. Let them do it, thoroughly and boldly and all will be well. The scale is soon to turn the time is at hand when they, in return, can call the rebels of their neighborhoods to a swift and just account. By this is not meant engeance or retaliation-I mean that the reb els should be bent, and the rebellion be anni hilated upon every acre of ground over which the Union armies tread. We have thrown grass long enough, and have now come to the using of stones. I could write a chapter upon the individua speriences of this people, but will not dwell. The Border State readers of the Journal appreciate it all full well. But of one fact I am more deeply assured, day after day-that the old, reflective, and more moderate classes of southern rights" people in the South are now most heartily sick of the rebellion themselves They have lost confidence in their cause. The Confederate money is worthless in their estimation. Foreign intervention they despair of A division in the North and West on the war question they do not now expect. These vast Northern armies marching in upon them, so well clothed and equipped-men of vigorous lion is dried up. Sooner or later this will be he result-soon, I think, and soon, the slave polders of the South should hope. It is announced to-day that by Friday next he cars will run up to the tunnel on each side, leaving a gap of about eight miles of staging etween Nashville and Louisville, and in nother week hence the road is expected to be epaired in the tunnel and throughout. It will be well guarded, to preserve it from the infatuation and insanity of those for whom it was originally built. This great avenue of travel and commerce again opened, the Nash-
